

Enforcement Agents membership benefits

Networking

- Connect with other Enforcement Agents nationwide, in person or online, to ask questions and share solutions
- Choose from more than 70 member-led meetings and events across the UK every year; including Enforcement Agents interest group meetings
- Attend the BPA's flagship event, Parkex, the biggest parking show in Europe

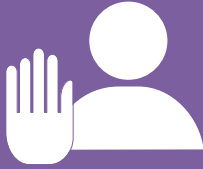

Advice and support

- Dedicated Enforcement Agents account manager for one to one support, information and advice
- Lawline, offering up to 30 minutes of free legal advice for all Enforcement Agents group members
- PRline, offering up to 30 minutes of free public relations support
- HRline for up to 30 minutes free advice on employment law and other HR related matters

Advancing knowledge

- Members' only website section with access to the BPA knowledge bank
- Connect with the wider membership to share market information and user experience
- Access to information about new and emerging innovations in technology
- Participate in research into consumer behaviour and opinions
- Receive regular e-newsletters and Parking News magazine

Enforcement Agents membership benefits

Lobbying and engagement

- Influencing the future direction of the parking profession by engaging with government bodies and pushing for change to improve standards and regulation of parking
- Representing the views of our Enforcement Agents group members, ensuring your voice is heard as part of the wider parking community
- Consumer group engagement and public campaigning
- Proactive national and local media relations on behalf of our members

Professional development

- Providing individuals with learning support and advice to maximise career opportunities within parking
- Advice and guidance on parking qualifications, career progression and development opportunities
- Continuous professional development tools and resources
- Opportunities to stand for election to the Association's influential Council of Representatives and Boards

To discuss how BPA membership could help your organisation please contact membership@britishparking.co.uk